

Acknowledgements

WE ARE very grateful to Professor Stephen Driscoll and Alex Hale for their kindness in acting as referees for the volume, to Dr Christopher Lowe and Headland Archaeology Ltd for allowing us to use the 'hostage stone' from Inchmarnock as fig 3.2, to Ian G Scott for allowing us to use his drawing of the rune-inscribed cross from Inchmarnock as fig 4.2, to George Geddes for his help with photographs, and to John Baldwin for allowing us to use his photographs as the cover image and fig 1.4, and Kevin Macleod for kindly scanning fig 3.4. We are also grateful to Sarah Thomas for fig 3.3, to David Caldwell for fig 3.5 and to Matthew Molony for fig 11.1. The editor would like to thank Shetland Litho for their patience and expertise.

The publication of this volume has been made possible by the grants very generously provided by Sir Gerald Elliot, the Robert Kiln Charitable Trust, the Discover Bute Landscape Partnership Scheme, the Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Scotland, the Strathmartine Trust, the Marc Fitch Fund, the Dr J N Marshall (Island of Bute) Memorial Trust and the Hunter Trust. We are most grateful for this essential assistance.